Headline:
Remaining cold with some outbreaks of rain, sleet and snow.

Today:
A frosty and sunny start for many, but cloud will spread southwards through the morning and early afternoon bringing outbreaks of rain and snow, mainly over hills, before clearing southwards by late afternoon. Much lighter winds than of late. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry night with largely clear skies and light winds. Turning cold soon after dark with a widespread frost forming overnight. A touch cloudier in the west towards dawn. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Monday:
Very chilly to begin with some hazy sunshine. Dry in the morning but becoming increasingly cloudy before light rain spreads southeastwards through the late afternoon. Still rather cold. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Windier again by Tuesday with outbreaks of rain, but also feeling a bit milder. Blustery and showery on Wednesday, though turning colder again. Showers easing through Thursday.
